

IN NORTH TOPEKA

Outing Club in Fourth Year of Its Existence.

Furnishes Cheap and Pleasant Vacations to Members.

No organization has been more successful in accomplishing the purpose for which it was organized than the North Topeka Outing Club. It was brought into existence four years ago through the efforts of C. J. Stewart. The club maintains a camp on Mill creek near Maple Hill during the summer months and the members spend their vacations there, in company of friends and guests. The club maintains two permanent cabins, one of three rooms and the other of one room, equipped with every convenience for camping parties. The camp is located two and a half miles from Maple Hill on the Hamilton place near the falls of Mill creek. It is near a fine swimming hole, the fishing is good, spring and well water are convenient, and every facility is offered for the vacation problem. The club is hospitable and many North Topeka people have enjoyed the pleasures of its camp. The members include C. J. Stewart, president; Ralph E. Bear, secretary; Fred Morns, Rufus True-love, W. O. Anderson, D. T. Gabriel and T. M. Forbes.

DESIGN No. D-1408

The use of cobble stones for the porch foundation in this design just as if nature had almost left them there for use in this manner, together with the wide overhanging gables and timber work of the porch, are the predominating features of this design, and the most largely responsible for its peculiar charm. The exterior is intended to be of shingles, stained brown, a soft woody walnut sort of brown, and the trim should be white, while green for the sash would be very effective.

In floor plan arrangement, we have an unusually compact and desirable use of the space available, not even the living room coat closet being forgotten, and the very compact and space saving arrangement of the combination cellar and outside grade entrance staircase from kitchen.

There is a full basement under the entire house, hot water heating apparatus, laundry, etc.

Cost, $2,800.00. Width, 27 feet 6 inches; depth, 39 feet.

Two fine shady lots, good five room house, modern except furnace—$2,750. A bargain.
